Sirs,

Years ago SSVEC told its customers to go solar. Many did.

Now, SSVEC is saying they are losing money due to solar customers "not paying their fair share"

It seems to me with all the legal expertise and energy people at SSVEC they would have considered all (????--can't make out the proper word).

If they are losing money they should figure out another way rather than penalize their customers for believing their advice on solar. I need every penny of my social security. SSVEC should stop whining & not drag its customers into their own mess.
